

Trinity Lutheran Church
Artists at the Organ
2011-12 season

Sunday, October 30, 2011, 7 pm

Marie Rubis Bauer

is director of Cathedral Music Ministries - Organist at the Cathedral of Saint Cecilia in Omaha, Nebraska, where she regularly performs and plays on Martin Pasi's Opus 14. Her responsibilities also include oversight of the Cathedral's seven choirs, cantors, and the Archdiocesan Chorale.

Sunday February 26, 2012, 7 pm

Delbert Disselhorst

is professor emeritus of organ at the University of Iowa School of Music. Dr. Disselhorst, who taught at the University of Iowa from 1970 to 2008, is regarded internationally as a superb recitalist and master teacher. He will perform our annual program of the music of Johann Sebastian Bach in celebration of the March birthday of the master.

Sunday, May 20, 2012, 7 pm

Hordur Askelsson, organist

Inga Rós, cellist

husband and wife, will present Icelandic and Nordic music for solo organ and cello/organ. Áskelsson serves as the Cantor/Organist of Hallgrímskirkja in Reykjavík; Inga Rós is a member of the Iceland Symphony Orchestra and the Reykjavík String Quartet, and both are actively involved in the arts in Iceland.

Trinity's organ by Martin Pasi, Opus 4, was designed and built for the new sanctuary and installed in 1995.

Please join us for the seventeenth year of Trinity's concert series, presenting some of the outstanding organists of our time, on one of the great organs in the United States, in the acoustically satisfying ambience of Trinity Lutheran Church.
